This month we were lucky to have received both help and brand new Children's books- all donated by Tori and her mom, Barb James Batko. They both worked very hard sorting about a hundred books (on military aircraft), by identifying the country and company of manufacture, mostly by the cover art. Now we'll have almost 4 shelves of 358.4 MILITARY AIRCRAFT books.

Tori also donated the following 4 Children's Aviation books:
AMELIA EARHART; Legend of the Lost Aviator by Shelley Tanaka. Madison Press.

INSIDE THE HINDENBURG; Giant Cutaway Book, by Mireille Majoor. Madison Press.

WRIGHT BROTHERS
(Weekly Reader Series) by Jonathan A. Brown. Early Learning 2004.

SPACE STATION; Accident
on Mir (Dorling Kindersley Readers) by Angela Royston.

This is an "easy to read" fiction book.

THANK YOU TORI
BATKO.

Keep those donated books coming in !

Our annual Father's Day breakfast is only about a month away. This is our biggest fundraiser event of the year and is the event that supports the EAA 113 Aviation Scholarships. Plan on attending. We will need everyone's help to make this a success once again. We will need volunteers to help with the breakfast, and the more the help, the easier it will be for everyone. Invite your friends- this breakfast has been a Chapter 113 tradition for over 47 years. This year, we are aiding two students to go to the Air Academy at Oshkosh, and will be awarding up to two scholarships for college age students.

One of the builders of Don Zimmerman's Kitfox, Mike D'Amico, was in town this past weekend. He is the co-founder of AEROLEDs, and was installing new lights on the plane. He brought along a display board to show the variety and brightness of the new LED lights. Check out his site at www.AeroLEDs.com.

For the May meeting, Pete Waters is once again presenting a series of simultaneous workshops in the hangar and meeting room, so everyone will have a chance to check them all out during the course of the evening.

As always, we would like your articles and pictures to include in this newsletter.

Hello EAA Chapter 113

Life has been good in Alaska this past year. I built a 24 x 36 shop that I've rebuilt 2 Piper PA-18 Super Cubs in. I bought another Super Cub for myself that I'll get back to as soon as I finish another set of wings for a guy down in Palmer AK.

I've staked another 15 acres about 5 miles north of Ora Lake, just off of Cache Lake. I plan to start another cabin there next year.

I have a guiding business now that has been very good to me too. I trapped a bit this winter, got a nice pile of furs, beaver and marten mostly. I eat moose and sheep meat from my client's catches, good stuff.

I'll be putting the T-Craft back on floats next month (May) for the summer season.

If you ever in the area and want to go remote fishing, trekking, or need a guide, give me a call

All my best

Pete Waters' Drune Turbulent project coming together nicely.

No, it is not the edge of space, just a typical day of flying with our Chapter President Tom Smith
